Albert L. PEIA, Plaintiff v. UNITED STATES of America, et al., Defendants.

“...The facts are taken as alleged in the complaint[1]. Plaintiff alleges a broad-ranging conspiracy involving the United States of America, the U.S. Bankruptcy Courts, various U.S. District Court Judges, various U.S. Bankruptcy Trustees, the U.S. Attorney’s Office, Donald Trump, the FBI, and fifteen John Doe defendants...” “...In 1987, Plaintiff commenced an action alleging civil RICO violations in the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey to recover money owed to him by a Mr. Dilena. The case was assigned to District Judge Maryanne Trump Barry[2]. The thrust of his claim was that Mr. Dilena diverted funds owed to Plaintiff and comingled them with illicit drug profits that were then laundered through the Trump casinos. Contemporaneous to the 1987 RICO action, Plaintiff claims that he informed Assistant U.S. Attorney Jonathan Lacey of the RICO scheme and provided him with documents to support his theory. After no answer from Mr. Lacey for several months, Plaintiff learned Mr. Lacey was no longer with the U.S. Attorney’s office and that his documents could not be found. Plaintiff delivered another package of the same documents several months later to U.S. Attorney Sam Alito.[3] After no contact for several months Plaintiff learned that Mr. Alito was no longer working in the U.S. Attorney’s office and that his documents could not be located. Plaintiff then attempted to tell his story to agents of the FBI, but they were not receptive. As a result of deliberately slow proceedings in his 1987 RICO action, Plaintiff filed for (Chapter 11) bankruptcy in New Jersey in 1988. Later in 1988, he sought to recuse Judge Barry because she was the sister of Donald Trump, owner of the Trump Casinos involved in the RICO scheme. At this time Plaintiff met with then U.S. Bankruptcy Trustee Hugh Leonard to convince him to join Plaintiff’s motion to recuse. Mr. Leonard declined. The 1987 RICO action was dismissed in 1989...”

ZH 15 Facts Which Prove That A Massive Economic Meltdown Is Already Happening Right Now

ECONOMIC CONDITIONS JUST KEEP GETTING WORSE...

"The following are 15 facts that prove that a massive economic meltdown is already happening right now...

#1 Existing home sales have now fallen for 10 consecutive months.

#2 Existing home sales are down 35.4 percent over the last 12 months. That is the largest year over year decline in existing home sales since the collapse of Lehman Brothers.

#3 Homebuilder sentiment has now dropped for 12 consecutive months.

#4 Home construction costs have risen more than 30 percent since the beginning of 2022.

#5 The number of single-family housing unit permits has fallen for nine months in a row.

#6 The Empire State Manufacturing Index has plunged "to a reading of negative 11.2 in December". That figure was way, way below expectations.

#7 In November, we witnessed the largest decline in retail sales that we have seen all year long.

#8 Even the biggest names on Wall Street are starting to let workers go. In fact, it is being reported that Goldman Sachs will soon lay off approximately 4,000 employees.

#9 The Federal Reserve is admitting that the number of actual jobs in the United States has been overstated by over a million.

#10 U.S. job cuts were 417 percent higher in November than they were during the same month a year ago.

#11 A recent Wall Street Journal survey found that approximately two-thirds of all Americans expect the economy to get even worse next year.

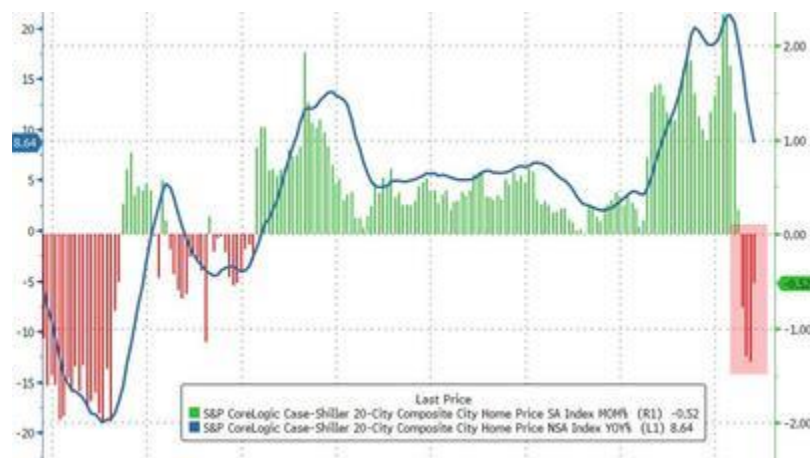

#12 A newly released Bloomberg survey has discovered that 70 percent of U.S. economists believe that a recession is coming in 2023.

#13 Inflation continues to spiral wildly out of control. At this point, a head of lettuce now costs 11 dollars at one grocery store in California.

#14 Overall, vegetable prices in the United States are more than 80 percent higher than they were at this same time last year.

#15 Thanks to the rapidly rising cost of living, 63 percent of the U.S. population is now living paycheck to paycheck."

<https://www.yahoo.com/finance/news/report-top-5-countries-world-100000516.html>

Amy Legate-Wolfe Mon, December 26, 2022 at 6:00 AM PST

These are the top 5 countries in the world to retire in — can you guess where the US ranks?

Americans looking to retire should plan to do so elsewhere, based on this year's Global Retirement Index (GRI) by investment bank Natixis.

The retirement index looked at the 44 countries taking into consideration important factors such as health, finances during retirement, the quality of life experienced and general well-being as retirees aged. The countries were given a score by the index, with 100 points the highest result possible.

So what makes these countries so great?

1. Norway

At 81% on the GRI, Norway regained the top spot after four years in third place. The country improved its position from 2021, but is still down from its 87% score in 2012.

Norway held the distinction of being in the top 10 across the four subindices, including finance, where the Nordic nation ascended from 25th to eighth place as it moved its five-year interest rate average into positive territory.

The country also benefited from improvement in the life expectancy and insured health expenditure. While unemployment increased in the country, it appears its interest rate improvements significantly boosted the company's overall scores, supported by its strong health care system.

2. Switzerland

Switzerland comes in second at 80%, with the overall score dropping from 81% the year before. The largest drop came from its material well-being factors, with lower scores in income equality and unemployment factors, though it boasts the fourth-highest score for income per capita.

While its finance sub-index fell short this year, Switzerland's environmental and happiness factors improved its performance this year. It was also helped along with higher scores in its life expectancy and health expenditure per capita indicators.

3. Iceland

After achieving the top spot in 2021, Iceland had one of the largest drops to 79%, coming in third. The largest factors here were also in finance and material well-being.

A large factor that brought down the score was an increase in [government indebtedness](. Still, it managed to come in second for income equality and a higher quality of life score thanks to its environmental and happiness indicators.

4. Ireland

Ireland held onto its fourth-place position with a score of 76% — a slight drop from 78% in 2021, due to lower scores from its finances and material well-being subindices.

Read more: Here's how much the average American 60-year-old holds in retirement savings — how does your nest egg compare?

This year's decline came from increased unemployment and income equality factors, but Ireland maintained the third-highest score for income per capita. It also boasted some of the top 10 finishes in the happiness and health indices, with air quality and environmental factors, and health expenditure improvements pushing it forward.

5. Australia

Rounding out the top five, Australia scored 75% in 2022, down from 76% in 2021. As with the other countries, the decrease came mainly from drops in the finances and material well-being subindices. However, there was also a decline in its quality of life factors.

Yet while improvements were made in its income per capita and unemployment factors, it received a lower income equality indicator. It also had some of the highest air quality scores, offset by some of the lowest environmental improvements. Its health care system helped the country to hold onto the fifth position, with life expectancy a major factor.

What about the U.S.?

And the United States? The U.S. can be found way down in 18th place, slipping to 69% from 71% in 2021.

Unemployment and income equality account for some of the U.S.'s place in this year's report. While it achieved the sixth-highest score for income per capita among all the GRI countries, that was offset by a low score for income equality.

Government indebtedness, old-age dependency and tax pressures all pushed the U.S. downwards.

However, there were some improvements. Its life expectancy factors improved for 2022, with the highest score for its health expenditure per capita, and fourth-highest for insured health expenditure of all the GRI countries.

So while finance and material well-being went down, quality of life seems to be slowly improving in the U.S. — not just from health care, but environmental and happiness factors as well.

But there's a long road ahead for the U.S. if it ever hopes to break the top 10.

WHO WILL START THE FIRST MAJOR WAR OF 2023?

December 27, 2022 by Michael

Tensions are on the rise all over the planet, and global conflict will be one of the big trends that we will all be watching in 2023. And that is extremely unfortunate, because more global conflict won't be good for any of us. Considering what we have been through the past several years, we could really use a time of peace. Sadly, as I write this article it appears that more war is inevitable.

Why You Need To Start Paying Attention To The 'Twitter Files'

“The “Twitter Files” have now officially had more sequels than Planet of the Apes and can be difficult to absorb. Thus, I don’t think they’re getting the attention they deserve.

For those of you not following the “Twitter Files” drops, let me catch you up on what I believe are some of the most important parts:

- The FBI paid Twitter $3.5 million to censor conservatives.

- The FBI pressured Twitter to give them information that would legally require warrants, though they did not have warrants.
- Leading up to the 2020 election, the FBI would eventually hold weekly meetings with Twitter and tell them whose tweets to squelch and which accounts they wanted to be suspended. Almost all were those of conservatives.
- The FBI knew the Hunter Biden laptop story was real, they knew it was coming out — weeks before the 2020 election — and they told Big Tech to expect a “Russian disinformation” drop and squelch the story. That means the FBI corrupted the election to help Joe “totally showered with his daughter, Ashley” Biden.
- There are so many former FBI employees at Twitter that they have their own Slack channel.

FACT-O-RAMA! Hunter's laptop proves beyond a doubt that the Biden family took in tens of millions of dollars from Chinese companies linked to the commies for no discernible work. The FBI pressured Big Tech firms to downplay the story, even making it unsharable, even though the FBI knew the laptop was real. The commie bum-lickees at Twitter were happy to play along, even going so far as to suspend the account of the the NY Post for releasing the Hunter laptop story.

In response to the “Twitter Files” detailing how the FBI-Twitter circle jerk was real, the bureau called the allegations “conspiracy theories” but never actually denied its relationship with Twitter.

Elon Musk provided the world with an early Christmas present on Saturday with Twitter Files Pt. IX. I'll sum it up so you can avoid the Twitter mess and get to the relevant facts:

- The FBI was a portal, specifically the San Francisco office, for other government agencies to get to Twitter to surveil and censor Americans.
- Hiding under the title of Foreign Influence Task Force (FITF), actors from local police departments to the Department of Defense (DOD) and the CIA were watching and censoring Americans — not foreigners.
- Twitter wasn't the only Big Tech firm hip-deep in spooks. The feds had their fingers in Verizon, Reddit, Facebook, Microsoft, and, for some reason, Pinterest.
- As the 2020 election neared, the FBI-FITF assailed Twitter with hundreds of requests to censor Twitter accounts and tweets. There were so many requests that Twitter execs had to come up with a system to prioritize them.
- FBI employees were tasked with doing word searches on Twitter, looking for violations of Twitter policies — instead of chasing actual criminals.
- The FBI had roughly 80 agents working with Big Tech companies. It is unclear how many members of the DOD, CIA, etc. were involved CENSOR-O-RAMA! Articles written by our own Matt Margolis are marked on Twitter as “unsafe.” Matt is doing something right. Be more like Matt!

What Have We Learned?

We have learned the FBI is not the only government agency censoring and surveilling Americans. Twitter was a veritable “pig pile” when it comes to spying on We the People. The DOD, CIA, and even local police had their fingers in the pie. And Twitter was only one of the pies. Other Big Tech firms, including Facebook and Verizon (pssst that's a cell phone carrier), were in on the game. Big Brother is watching. We are being spied on, and frequently silenced. Well, at least those of us who speak out against the Stalin-like censoring and surveilling of Americans."

EOAD Feverishly Racing Toward Our Own Destruction... “We are careening directly into an abyss of war, pain and misery, and our leaders are thunderously applauding as it happens. Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy came to Washington this week because he wanted more money, and our politicians in Washington definitely did not disappoint him. Even though we had already given Ukraine far more money than the rest of the world combined, our politicians agreed to give him another colossal mountain of cash. On some level, we all have to respect Zelenskyy’s skills as a con man. Even though he has banned the main opposition party in Ukraine, and even though he has banned all television stations that were critical of him, and even though he just banned an entire ancient Christian denomination, our politicians continue to worship him like some sort of a pop music star. Zelenskyy has become an extremely oppressive dictator that has set himself up to rule Ukraine for as long as he wants, but members of Congress from both parties continue to hail him as a “champion of democracy” that deserves our unquestioning support.”

CLEARLY DEMONSTRATES AMERICA'S RAPID DECLINE

The largest cities in the United States are becoming cesspools of crime, drugs, violence and homelessness, and no matter what "solutions" our politicians come up with the problems just continue to get even worse. Sadly, this is even happening in the wealthiest cities in the whole country. New York City is the financial capital of the entire globe, and over the past two decades San Francisco has been swimming in giant mountains of tech industry money. But today the streets of both cities look like something out of a post-apocalyptic horror movie. EOAD " 5 GLOBAL FLASHPOINTS WHICH COULD ABSOLUTELY EXPLODE DURING THE EARLY STAGES OF 2023

#1 Serbia

Are you ready for another war in the Balkans? Ethnic tensions have risen to the highest level in more than two decades, and the president of Serbia just convened an emergency gathering of his national security council...Serbian President Aleksandar Vučić has met his national security council as tensions rise in Kosovo between the authorities there and ethnic Serbs. On Saturday a stun grenade was thrown at EU police in north Kosovo, where Serbs form a majority, and local police exchanged fire with unknown groups. Serbs set up road blocks after Kosovan police were deployed in a dispute over car number plates. Some in the region now believe that war is "inevitable", and Kosovo is already asking NATO to step in and intervene...At a news conference in Kosovo's capital Pristina on Sunday, Prime Minister Albin Kurti asked the Kosovo Force (KFOR), a NATO-led international peacekeeping force, to guarantee "freedom of movement," as he accused "criminal gangs" of blocking roads. A fragile peace has been preserved in Kosovo since it declared independence from Serbia in 2008 following the 1998-99 war in which NATO intervened to protect Kosovo's Albanian majority. Serbia does not recognize Kosovo's independence.

#2 The Disputed Border Between China And India

On Tuesday, we learned that there has been yet another violent clash along the hotly disputed border between China and India...Soldiers from India and China clashed last week along their disputed border, India's defense minister said Tuesday, in the latest violence along the contested frontier since June 2020, when troops from both countries were killed in a deadly brawl.Rajnath Singh, who addressed lawmakers in parliament, said Friday's encounter along the Tawang sector of eastern Arunachal Pradesh state started when Chinese troops "encroached into Indian territory" and "unilaterally tried to change the status quo" along the disputed border near Yangtze.The Chinese just can't seem to stop provoking India, and a full-blown conflict between the two nations could escalate out of control very rapidly.Let us hope that does not happen, because both China and India possess nuclear weapons.

#3 Taiwan

For a long time, we have been warned that China will eventually invade Taiwan.Unfortunately, tensions in the region just continue to escalate, and on Tuesday the Chinese sent more bombers into Taiwan's air defense zone than ever before...China sent a record 18 nuclear-capable bombers into Taiwan's air defence zone, Taipei said on Tuesday (Dec 13), just days after Beijing banned more Taiwanese imports in the latest sign of deteriorating ties.Democratic Taiwan lives under the constant threat of invasion by China, which sees the self-ruled island as part of its territory to be seized one day.

#4 Iran

There will be a war between Iran and Israel.Of course the IDF has already been regularly hitting Iranian-backed forces inside Syria on a regular basis, but we should be thankful that a full-blown war in which missiles are flying back and forth between the two nations hasn't started yet. Unfortunately, we are closer than ever to that point. In fact, it is being reported that Israel is actually warning that it may bomb the airport in Beirut "if it determines that Iran is smuggling weapons on civilian planes"...According to Israeli media reports, Israel has warned Lebanon that Israel Defense Forces could bomb Beirut's airport if it determines that Iran is smuggling weapons on civilian planes destined for the terrorist group Hezbollah. The alleged weapons smuggling was reported by a London-based Arabic language newspaper Asharq Al-Awsat, which quoted Israeli sources who said Israel issued the warning. When a full-blown war between Iran and Israel finally starts, there will be no holding back by either side. The death and destruction such a war will cause will shock the entire world, and the global oil trade will be thrown into a state of complete and utter chaos.

#5 Ukraine

The United States and Russia both continue to escalate the horrifying conflict in Ukraine. Now that Russia is bombing the living daylights out of Ukraine's power grid, the U.S. is choosing to respond by giving Patriot missile systems to the Ukrainians...Pentagon officials are in the final stages of preparing a plan to send a Patriot air defense missile system to Ukraine to counter Russian aerial assaults, U.S. officials told CBS News. The plan has not yet been approved by either the Pentagon or the White House, but that could come as early as this week. This represents a major escalation, and it is also being reported that the Biden administration has given the Ukrainian government the green light to conduct drone strikes deep inside of Russia..."

Kate Winslet Reveals Process Behind Holding Her Breath For 7 Minutes, Beating Tom Cruise

[Well, well, good for Kate (saw an internet posted celebrity banned tape – she’s got a great vagina) "It's a physical shift and it's something that you have to learn how to do," Winslet said. "But at the same time, it's also a mindset."

I saw this, was intrigued, so I googled: “Actually the human limit is 4-1/2 to 5 minutes. Once a human being hits this number, if somehow they are remarkably still holding their breath; they will begin to suffer brain damage and hallucinate or blackout. At which point they will die anyway from lack of oxygen.”

I believe this is bullshit, as is so of scientology! ... But there’s this:

“Editor’s update: On March 27, 2021, Budimir Šobat of Croatia set a new world record of 24 minutes 37 seconds.

- In 2012, German freediver Tom Sietas held his breath underwater for 22 minutes and 22 seconds, besting Dane Stig Severinsen’s previous Guinness record by 22 seconds.
- The women’s record is 18 minutes, 32.59 seconds, set by Brazillian Karoline Meyer in 2009. Prior to the attempt, she hyperventilated with oxygen for 24 minutes.
- The International Association for the Development of Apnea, which records all freediving world records, does not allow the use of pure oxygen before a static apnea attempt. The current non-oxygen aided records stand at 11 minutes, 35 seconds for men (Stéphane Mifsud, 2009) and 8 minutes, 23 seconds for women (Natalia Molchanova, 2011).

Severinsen has said that he hasn't suffered any brain damage from his breath-holding record attempts. Still, Discovery News notes, "studies of freedivers have turned up abnormalities in brain scans and markers that suggest brain damage. No one knows what the long-term consequences will be of feats like these."]

THREE-DAY VISIT

Arab-China ties 'to be elevated to new level'

President Xi set for strategic dialogue with Saudi leaders

By Samer Al-Sayid

Chinese President Xi Jinping arrived in Riyadh on Wednesday at the beginning of a three-day visit to the Kingdom.

The president will attend a Saudi-Chinese summit, which takes place every two years, and is also scheduled to be part of a two-day event focusing on ways to enhance relations in the field of economic cooperation.

In his arrival statement, Xi said "China and the Kingdom have a close relationship of friendship, partnership and brotherhood over the 72 years that have passed since the establishment of diplomatic relations between them. Our countries have continued to exchange understanding and support.

He cited the "strategic mutual trust," "practical cooperation," and "fruitful results in all fields" and "close overall and comprehensive relations in international and regional affairs" between the two countries.

Xi reinforced the strategic partnership established in 2005 between Saudi Arabia and China, which he said has "benefited the two peoples and contributed strongly to the promotion of peace, stability, prosperity and development in the region."

Xi said he will discuss with King Salman and Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman "in-depth bilateral relations and international and regional issues of common concern, and we will work together to plan the development of Sino-Saudi relations."

The Chinese president reiterated that he was looking forward to attending the various summits scheduled and to working with GCC and Arab leaders "to elevate Sino-Arab relations and Sino-Gulf relations to a new level."

He was received in the evening by Prince Faisal bin Bandar, governor of Riyadh region and other Saudi and Chinese dignitaries.

Chinese President Xi Jinping is welcomed in Riyadh by the Prince Faisal bin Bandar after his arrival at King Abdul Aziz International Airport on Wednesday, 7th.

SPX is currently trading below the 100 day, extending the latest move lower, "well" below the 3950 level. 3900 is the next support to watch. So far the reversal is playing out well. Let's see if we follow the mid August set up, where a possible bounce should be occurring soon...and then the bigger break of the 3900 support.

3900 is key. Below that things could get "dynamic"...

The United States is providing most of the funding, most of the equipment, most of the ammunition, most of the high level intelligence and much of the training. That makes the United States a direct participant in the conflict. Yes, many other NATO countries are also contributing in various ways, and that makes them direct participants as well. But the mainstream media here in the western world continues to insist that this is Ukraine's war and that we are just helping them out. Without a doubt, Ukraine has lost an enormous number of soldiers over the course of 2022, but at this point Ukrainians are really a junior partner in the war..."

Albert L. PEIA, Plaintiff v. UNITED STATES of America, et al., Defendants.

“...The facts are taken as alleged in the complaint[1]. Plaintiff alleges a broad-ranging conspiracy involving the United States of America, the U.S. Bankruptcy Courts, various U.S. District Court Judges, various U.S. Bankruptcy Trustees, the U.S. Attorney's Office, Donald Trump, the FBI, and fifteen John Doe defendants...” “...In 1987, Plaintiff commenced an action alleging civil RICO violations in the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey to recover money owed to him by a Mr. Dilena. The case was assigned to District Judge Maryanne Trump Barry[2]. The thrust of his claim was that Mr. Dilena diverted funds owed to Plaintiff and comingled them with illicit drug profits that were then laundered through the Trump casinos. Contemporaneous to the 1987 RICO action, Plaintiff claims that he informed Assistant U.S. Attorney Jonathan Lacey of the RICO scheme and provided him with documents to support his theory. After no answer from Mr. Lacey for several months, Plaintiff learned Mr. Lacey was no longer with the U.S. Attorney's office and that his documents could not be found. Plaintiff delivered another package of the same documents several months later to U.S. Attorney Sam Alito. [3] After no contact for several months Plaintiff learned that Mr. Alito was no longer working in the U.S. Attorney's office and that his documents could not be located. Plaintiff then attempted to tell his story to agents of the FBI, but they were not receptive. As a result of deliberately slow proceedings in his 1987 RICO action, Plaintiff filed for (Chapter 11) bankruptcy in New Jersey in 1988. Later in 1988, he sought to recuse Judge Barry because she was the sister of Donald Trump, owner of the Trump Casinos involved in the RICO scheme. At this time Plaintiff met with then U.S. Bankruptcy Trustee Hugh Leonard to convince him to join Plaintiff's motion to recuse. Mr. Leonard declined. The 1987 RICO action was dismissed in 1989...”

Donald Trump's running for president again, so you can look forward to more of his "fun" ideas — like the time he tried to buy Greenland.

By

Ryan Grenoble

Dec 3, 2022

Donald Trump has returned to the news cycle amid a deluge of stories about a dinner meeting he hosted with a white supremacist and Ye, the rapper previously known as Kanye West.

It's a reminder of the chaotic years of his presidency, as well as a foreboding — though hopefully instructive — warning about how he would wield power if elected again.

If past is prologue, let's take a moment to remember just how unsettling things got during the Trump administration, with this not-even-remotely-exhaustive list of weird and bad stuff he attempted while in office:

- Tried to buy Greenland.
- Wanted to nuke hurricanes.
- Doctored a hurricane forecast map with a Sharpie.
- Attempted a coup to stay in power.
- Absconded with thousands of classified documents, lied about it and refused to give them back when the feds asked nicely.
- Sent unidentified federal officers to Portland, Oregon, to abduct protesters and spark a conflagration that could be used as a pretense for implementing martial law.
- Ordered peaceful protesters tear-gassed so he could pose for a photo-op with a Bible outside a church.
- Tried to blackmail Ukraine into manufacturing dirt for his 2020 campaign.
- Asked Russia for help in his 2016 campaign — and got it.
- Had a weird affinity for Russian President Vladimir Putin. (Remember the Helsinki summit?)
- Invited Russian Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov to an in-person meeting in the Oval Office, where he accidentally revealed top-secret intelligence.

- Wanted to withdraw the U.S. from NATO.
- Separated migrant parents from their children, locked the kids in cages and then failed to reunite them.
- Insisted that “raking” would prevent forest fires because “you’ve got to take care of the floors. You know the floors of the forest, very important.”
- Covered for Saudi Arabia after Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman ordered the gruesome murder and dismemberment of a U.S. journalist with a bone saw. (Jared Kushner, Trump’s son-in-law, owes Saudi Arabia $2 billion, and the crown prince has reportedly bragged about having Kushner “in his pocket.”)
- Intervened to get Kushner top-secret clearance after he was denied over concerns about foreign influence.
- Put Kushner in charge of Middle East peace.
- Embraced rampant nepotism.
- Touted injecting disinfectant as a COVID-19 cure.
- Touted ultraviolet light as a COVID-19 cure.
- Touted hydroxychloroquine as a COVID-19 cure.
- Touted ivermectin as a COVID-19 cure.
- Told people not to wear face masks to cut down the spread of COVID-19, even though they work.
- Actively discouraged COVID-19 testing.
- Refused to send federal aid to New York City amid the first COVID-19 wave because the virus was hitting Democratic-voting states hardest.

- “Jokingly” said on multiple occasions that he deserved to be president for more than two terms.
- Thought climate change was a Chinese hoax.
- Built an incomplete border wall that doesn’t work, wasn’t needed and wasn’t paid for by Mexico.
- Started a trade war with China that mainly hurt U.S. consumers.
- Threw food when angry.
- Saw no problem with his vice president potentially being hanged by a violent mob he’d summoned and sent to the U.S. Capitol to disrupt the peaceful transition of power.
- Stared directly at the sun.

- Started his presidency with an easily disproved lie about the crowd size at his inauguration.
- Thought people needed an ID to buy cereal.
- Fired James Comey as FBI director because he didn't like the bureau investigating Russian meddling in the 2016 election. (Later, it was revealed that Trump's campaign manager gave detailed internal polling data to a Russian intelligence agent.)
- Was a “fucking moron,” according to Rex Tillerson, his secretary of state.
- Fired the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's China-based pandemic response team — and then when a pandemic happened years later, said, “I don't take responsibility at all” for COVID-19.
- Repeatedly embraced racism.
- Thought repeating “person, woman, man, camera, TV” would assure Americans of his mental stability.
- Tweeted literal gibberish — a lot.
- Lied all the time. (And still does.)
- Openly embraced and amplified QAnon conspiracy theories.
- Got impeached twice.
- Passed huge tax cuts for wealthy corporations — and massively grew the national debt.
- Flip-flopped on whether the White House had ordered the USS John McCain be hidden so he wouldn't get mad. (It did.)
- Called American military members who died in the line of duty “losers” and “suckers.”

- Claimed to have bone spurs to get out of military service.
- Binge-watched Fox News when he should have been working.
- Played so, so much golf.
- Raked in cash from foreign interests at his Washington hotel in an operation sometimes described as the “epicenter” of a corrupt presidency.
- Held a rally that may have led to the death of Herman Cain.
- Allegedly directed his lawyer to commit campaign fraud to cover up that Trump cheated on his wife after she had recently given birth.
- Was accused of sexual misconduct by more than two dozen women.
- Dismissed any bad news about himself as “fake.”
- Lied about voluntarily turning over his tax returns.
- Ate well-done steak — with ketchup.
- Described white supremacists in Charlottesville, Virginia, as “very fine people.”
- Grossly abused the presidential pardon on his way out the door.
- Used private communication services extensively after arguing that Hillary Clinton should be jailed for having a private email server.
- Refused to release White House visitor logs.
- Went to Puerto Rico and threw paper towels at people desperate for actual hurricane aid.

- Discouraged exercise because he believes bodies are like batteries, with a finite amount of energy.

Top 25 Countries to Retire In 2022

As birth rates decline and life expectancy increases, the share of elderly population is growing in many countries, putting pressure on governments' ability to fund pensions and retirement services. Additionally, when factoring in rising inflation and the implications of the COVID-19 pandemic, it has become increasingly difficult for many to afford retirement.

This ranking looks at economic factors, state-provided retirement options, and healthcare, among many other elements, to determine which countries are the best to retire in.

wobama once referred to himself as a mut ... at best, america's a nation of the world's disaffected; but, more likely, predominantly criminals, future criminals, and the mentally ill. The trump family story, brothels and all, is a telling example. Needless to say, that migration came at the expense of the indigenous who peopled the land.

Come To America! We Have Flesh Eating Bacteria, Open Air Drug Markets, Millions Of Rats And Lots Of Fentanyl

<http://endoftheamericandream.com/come-to-america-we-have-flesh-eating-bacteria-open-air-drug-markets-millions-of-rats-and-lots-of-fentanyl/> “Come visit America where you can watch people buy fentanyl-laced drugs in our open air drug markets and where addicts are free to defecate on the sidewalks whenever they want? And don't forget about the rats. We have armies of those, and I'm not just talking about the politicians. In the middle of the 20th century, most of our major cities were safe, clean and full of hard working industrious people. But now many of our major urban areas have become crime-infested hellholes that are absolutely teeming with predators”

Look At The Extreme Social Decay That Is Spreading Like Wildfire In Many Of The Largest Cities In America

<http://endoftheamericandream.com/look-at-the-extreme-social-decay-that-is-spreading-like-wildfire-in-many-of-the-largest-cities-in-america/> “If you want to get a feel for what is really going on in this country, just walk the streets of our major cities. In fact, you don't even need to go to the “bad areas” to see the extreme social decay that is eating away at our communities like cancer. As you will see below, there are tent cities, open drug use and rampant crime within two blocks of the White House. Even the best parts of Washington D.C. are being “fundamentally transformed”, and there is no way to put a positive spin on this. From coast to coast, the number of addicts just continues to grow, the number of people sleeping on the streets just continues to grow, and crime rates are rising to frightening levels. If things are already this bad while the economy is still relatively stable, what will our major cities look like when economic conditions really start deteriorating in 2023 and beyond?”

WELCOME TO AMERICA

AMERICA'S MAGICAL THINKING Elizabeth Cronise McLaughlin

"...But it's not just that about which we are in denial. It's also about the death of American mythology. We've been lied to so long in America it's hard sometimes to know truth from fiction. I was born in 1971, and I was raised with history lessons in school that included things like Manifest Destiny (used to justify indigenous genocide, land theft, and the use of Chinese slave labor to build railroads), the “discovery” of America by Columbus (to justify violent colonialism), and the end of the enslavement of Black Americans as a distant historical event (as though the repercussions of it don’t live on to this day given that slavery was the foundation of American capitalism and white supremacy). Even as recently as the past few years, many of us have fallen for the lie that this is a real democracy*. Democracy, though, requires real representation and rule by the people, under the theory that the people have the right to rule. Democracy is supposed to be in direct opposition to autocracy, where power of the few (whether monarchs or oligarchs) is lorded over the many through extreme wealth disparity, abuse of power, and control of the many to benefit those in power. I ask you: which one sounds like more like America today? As but one example, over the past few days I’ve seen polling that indicates that more than 88% of Americans favor background checks on gun sales, and more than 67% favor an assault weapons ban. The likelihood that any such legislation will pass, though, is literally nil absent reform of the filibuster, the end to which lies in the hands of a tiny, tiny number of people. Some of us have known for a long time that America was a lie. Some of us are just waking up to it. How do you grieve the promise of a nation that never was?...”

america’s done; and, the world is glad!

“The Seventh Bear

In case you missed the news, U.S. stocks have officially entered a bear market. On Monday, their cumulative decline since Jan. 3, as measured by the major large-company indexes (my source is the Morningstar US Market Index, but the S&P 500 or Wilshire 5000 indexes performed similarly), totaled 22.5%. As bear markets are by tradition defined as losses exceeding 20%, the dubious honor was achieved.

This is the seventh bear market of the past half century. The previous six were:

- 1) Oil Shock, 1973-74
- 2) Volcker Squeeze, 1980-82
- 3) Black Monday, 1987
- 4) Technology-Stock Crash, 2000-02
- 5) Financial Crisis, 2007-09
- 6) Coronavirus Lockdown, 2020

...So far, so bad. To judge by the admittedly small sample size, bear markets have been accompanied by recessions on 83% of occasions.”

Timeline of Bear Markets in the U.S.

EOAD Marauding Bands Of Looters Are Stealing Billions Of Dollars Worth Of Merchandise As America Descends Into Lawlessness “Three years ago, I bet that 99 percent of my readers had never heard of ORC. Of course by now almost everyone knows that ORC stands for “organized retail crime”, and it is prompting retailers to permanently shut down stores all over the nation. Right now, retail theft is happening from coast to coast on a scale that we have never seen in our entire history. Marauding bands of looters are barging into stores, grabbing as much merchandise as they can possibly carry, and then loading it into their vehicles. Online marketplaces make it easier than ever to turn stolen goods into cash, and at this point organized retail crime has become a multi-billion dollar business. As I have repeatedly warned my readers, America is descending into lawlessness.” [That’s very much past tense; viz., already has descended into lawlessness.]

The People Cheering for Humanity's End... [Hmmm ... Cheering? Not so much. Indifference, more to the point. For the UNIVERSE in binary terms (pluses/minuses-positives/negatives) such would clearly be a net positive!] “...Since the late 1940s, humanity has lived with the knowledge that it has the power to annihilate itself at any moment through nuclear war. Indeed, the climate anxiety of our own time can be seen as a return of apocalyptic fears that went briefly into abeyance after the end of the Cold War...But if being fruitful and multiplying starts to be seen as itself a form of killing, because it deprives future generations and other species of irreplaceable resources, then the flourishing of humanity can no longer be seen as simply good. Instead, it becomes part of a zero-sum competition that pits the gratification of human desires against the well-being of all of nature—not just animals and plants, but soil, stones, and water. If that’s the case, then humanity can no longer be considered a part of creation or nature, as science and religion teach in their different ways.

Instead, it must be seen as an antinatural force that has usurped and abolished nature, substituting its own will for the processes that once appeared to be the immutable basis of life on Earth. This understanding of humanity's place outside and against the natural order is summed up in the term Anthropocene, which in the past decade has become one of the most important concepts in the humanities and social sciences.

THE CELEBRATED “ANTINATALIST” PHILOSOPHER DAVID BENATAR ARGUES THAT THE DISAPPEARANCE OF HUMANITY WOULD NOT DEPRIVE THE UNIVERSE OF ANYTHING UNIQUE OR VALUABLE...” [Yes, that is indeed the point and the TRUTH!]

Top 25 Countries to Retire In 2022

As birth rates decline and life expectancy increases, the share of elderly population is growing in many countries, putting pressure on governments' ability to fund pensions and retirement services. Additionally, when factoring in rising inflation and the implications of the COVID-19 pandemic, it has become increasingly difficult for many to afford retirement.

This ranking looks at economic factors, state-provided retirement options, and healthcare, among many other elements, to determine which countries are the best to retire in.

CATEGORIES SCORED

Health

Health expenditure per capita, life expectancy, and non-insured health expenditure.

Quality of Life

Happiness, water and sanitation, air quality, environmental factors, and biodiversity and habitat.

Material Wellbeing

Income per capita, income equality, and unemployment.

Finances in Retirement

Government indebtedness, old-age dependency, bank non-performing loans, interest rates, inflation, governance, and tax pressure.

The trump family story, brothels and all, is a telling example. Needless to say, that migration came at the expense of the indigenous who peopled the land.

<http://endoftheamericandream.com/come-to-america-we-have-flesh-eating-bacteria-open-air-drug-markets-millions-of-rats-and-lots-of-fentanyl/> “Come visit America where you can watch people buy fentanyl-laced drugs in our open air drug markets and where addicts are free to defecate on the sidewalks whenever they want? And don't forget about the rats. We have armies of those, and I'm not just talking about the politicians. In the middle of the 20th century, most of our major cities were safe, clean and full of hard working industrious people. But now many of our major urban areas have become crime-infested hellholes that are absolutely teeming with predators”

Look At The Extreme Social Decay That Is Spreading Like Wildfire In Many Of The Largest Cities In America

<http://endoftheamericandream.com/look-at-the-extreme-social-decay-that-is-spreading-like-wildfire-in-many-of-the-largest-cities-in-america/> “If you want to get a feel for what is really going on in this country, just walk the streets of our major cities. In fact, you don't even need to go to the “bad areas” to see the extreme social decay that is eating away at our communities like cancer. As you will see below, there are tent cities, open drug use and rampant crime within two blocks of the White House. Even the best parts of Washington D.C. are being “fundamentally transformed”, and there is no way to put a positive spin on this. From coast to coast, the number of addicts just continues to grow, the number of people sleeping on the streets just continues to grow, and crime rates are rising to frightening levels. If things are already this bad while the economy is still relatively stable, what will our major cities look like when economic conditions really start deteriorating in 2023 and beyond?”

WELCOME TO AMERICA

AMERICA'S MAGICAL THINKING Elizabeth Cronise McLaughlin

"...But it's not just that about which we are in denial. It's also about the death of American mythology. We've been lied to so long in America it's hard sometimes to know truth from fiction. I was born in 1971, and I was raised with history lessons in school that included things like Manifest Destiny (used to justify indigenous genocide, land theft, and the use of Chinese slave labor to build railroads), the “discovery” of America by Columbus (to justify violent colonialism), and the end of the enslavement of Black Americans as a distant historical event (as though the repercussions of it don’t live on to this day given that slavery was the foundation of American capitalism and white supremacy). Even as recently as the past few years, many of us have fallen for the lie that this is a real democracy*. Democracy, though, requires real representation and rule by the people, under the theory that the people have the right to rule. Democracy is supposed to be in direct opposition to autocracy, where power of the few (whether monarchs or oligarchs) is lorded over the many through extreme wealth disparity, abuse of power, and control of the many to benefit those in power. I ask you: which one sounds like more like America today? As but one example, over the past few days I’ve seen polling that indicates that more than 88% of Americans favor background checks on gun sales, and more than 67% favor an assault weapons ban. The likelihood that any such legislation will pass, though, is literally nil absent reform of the filibuster, the end to which lies in the hands of a tiny, tiny number of people. Some of us have known for a long time that America was a lie. Some of us are just waking up to it. How do you grieve the promise of a nation that never was?...”

america’s done; and, the world is glad!

“The Seventh Bear

In case you missed the news, U.S. stocks have officially entered a bear market. On Monday, their cumulative decline since Jan. 3, as measured by the major large-company indexes (my source is the Morningstar US Market Index, but the S&P 500 or Wilshire 5000 indexes performed similarly), totaled 22.5%. As bear markets are by tradition defined as losses exceeding 20%, the dubious honor was achieved.

This is the seventh bear market of the past half century. The previous six were:

- 1) Oil Shock, 1973-74
- 2) Volcker Squeeze, 1980-82
- 3) Black Monday, 1987
- 4) Technology-Stock Crash, 2000-02
- 5) Financial Crisis, 2007-09
- 6) Coronavirus Lockdown, 2020

...So far, so bad. To judge by the admittedly small sample size, bear markets have been accompanied by recessions on 83% of occasions.”

DON'T FORGET <https://www.usdebtclock.org/> america is defacto bankrupt, the debt load $31+ trillion insurmountable.

CNN Business* — America's national debt has climbed north of $31 trillion for the first time, a milestone that comes at a time of historically high inflation, rising interest rates and growing economic uncertainty.

EOAD Marauding Bands Of Looters Are Stealing Billions Of Dollars Worth Of Merchandise As America Descends Into Lawlessness “Three years ago, I bet that 99 percent of my readers had never heard of ORC. Of course by now almost everyone knows that ORC stands for “organized retail crime”, and it is prompting retailers to permanently shut down stores all over the nation. Right now, retail theft is happening from coast to coast on a scale that we have never seen in our entire history. Marauding bands of looters are barging into stores, grabbing as much merchandise as they can possibly carry, and then loading it into their vehicles. Online marketplaces make it easier than ever to turn stolen goods into cash, and at this point organized retail crime has become a multi-billion dollar business. As I have repeatedly warned my readers, America is descending into lawlessness.” [That’s very much past tense; viz., already has descended into lawlessness.]

Indeed, the climate anxiety of our own time can be seen as a return of apocalyptic fears that went briefly into abeyance after the end of the Cold War...But if being fruitful and multiplying starts to be seen as itself a form of killing, because it deprives future generations and other species of irreplaceable resources, then the flourishing of humanity can no longer be seen as simply good. Instead, it becomes part of a zero-sum competition that pits the gratification of human desires against the well-being of all of nature—not just animals and plants, but soil, stones, and water. If that’s the case, then humanity can no longer be considered a part of creation or nature, as science and religion teach in their different ways. Instead, it must be seen as an antinatural force that has usurped and abolished nature, substituting its own will for the processes that once appeared to be the immutable basis of life on Earth. This understanding of humanity’s place outside and against the natural order is summed up in the term Anthropocene, which in the past decade has become one of the most important concepts in the humanities and social sciences.

"The Seventh Bear

In case you missed the news, U.S. stocks have officially entered a bear market. On Monday, their cumulative decline since Jan. 3, as measured by the major large-company indexes (my source is the Morningstar US Market Index, but the S&P 500 or Wilshire 5000 indexes performed similarly), totaled 22.5%. As bear markets are by tradition defined as losses exceeding 20%, the dubious honor was achieved.

This is the seventh bear market of the past half century. The previous six were:

- 1) Oil Shock, 1973-74
- 2) Volcker Squeeze, 1980-82
- 3) Black Monday, 1987
- 4) Technology-Stock Crash, 2000-02
- 5) Financial Crisis, 2007-09
- 6) Coronavirus Lockdown, 2020

DON'T FORGET <https://www.usdebtclock.org/> america is defacto bankrupt, the debt load $31+ trillion insurmountable.

CNN Business* — America's national debt has climbed north of $31 trillion for the first time, a milestone that comes at a time of historically high inflation, rising interest rates and growing economic uncertainty.

Timeline of Bear Markets in the U.S.

EOAD Marauding Bands Of Looters Are Stealing Billions Of Dollars Worth Of Merchandise As America Descends Into Lawlessness “Three years ago, I bet that 99 percent of my readers had never heard of ORC. Of course by now almost everyone knows that ORC stands for “organized retail crime”, and it is prompting retailers to permanently shut down stores all over the nation. Right now, retail theft is happening from coast to coast on a scale that we have never seen in our entire history. Marauding bands of looters are barging into stores, grabbing as much merchandise as they can possibly carry, and then loading it into their vehicles. Online marketplaces make it easier than ever to turn stolen goods into cash, and at this point organized retail crime has become a multi-billion dollar business. As I have repeatedly warned my readers, America is descending into lawlessness.” [That’s very much past tense; viz., already has descended into lawlessness.]

The People Cheering for Humanity's End... [Hmmm ... Cheering? Not so much. Indifference, more to the point. For the UNIVERSE in binary terms (pluses/minuses-positives/negatives) such would clearly be a net positive!] “...Since the late 1940s, humanity has lived with the knowledge that it has the power to annihilate itself at any moment through nuclear war. Indeed, the climate anxiety of our own time can be seen as a return of apocalyptic fears that went briefly into abeyance after the end of the Cold War...But if being fruitful and multiplying starts to be seen as itself a form of killing, because it deprives future generations and other species of irreplaceable resources, then the flourishing of humanity can no longer be seen as simply good. Instead, it becomes part of a zero-sum competition that pits the gratification of human desires against the well-being of all of nature—not just animals and plants, but soil, stones, and water. If that’s the case, then humanity can no longer be considered a part of creation or nature, as science and religion teach in their different ways. Instead, it must be seen as an antinatural force that has usurped and abolished nature, substituting its own will for the processes that once appeared to be the immutable basis of life on Earth. This understanding of humanity’s place outside and against the natural order is summed up in the term Anthropocene, which in the past decade has become one of the most important concepts in the humanities and social sciences.

YAHOO Business Fortune Hedge funder Michael Burry, made famous in 'The Big Short,' warns of an 'extended multiyear recession'

Burly has trimmed his hedge fund's holdings, saying he fears that a recession is coming and it will be far from "short and shallow."

"Michael Burly rose to fame after he predicted the 2008 U.S. housing crash and managed to net $100 million in personal profits, and another $700 million for his investors with a few lucrative, out-of-consensus bets. Now, the Scion Asset Management chief is warning that economic forecasts for a "soft landing"—or even a "mild recession"—are overly optimistic. "What strategy will pull us out of this real recession?" he wrote in a Tuesday tweet, which has since been deleted. "What forces could pull us so? There are none. So we are really looking at an extended multiyear recession."

Top 25 Countries to Retire In 2022

As birth rates decline and life expectancy increases, the share of elderly population is growing in many countries, putting pressure on governments' ability to fund pensions and retirement services. Additionally, when factoring in rising inflation and the implications of the COVID-19 pandemic, it has become increasingly difficult for many to afford retirement.

This ranking looks at economic factors, state-provided retirement options, and healthcare, among many other elements, to determine which countries are the best to retire in.

wobama once referred to himself as a mut ... at best, america's a nation of the world's disaffected; but, more likely, predominantly criminals, future criminals, and the mentally ill. The trump family story, brothels and all, is a telling example. Needless to say, that migration came at the expense of the indigenous who peopled the land.

Come To America! We Have Flesh Eating Bacteria, Open Air Drug Markets, Millions Of Rats And Lots Of Fentanyl

And don't forget about the rats. We have armies of those, and I'm not just talking about the politicians. In the middle of the 20th century, most of our major cities were safe, clean and full of hard working industrious people. But now many of our major urban areas have become crime-infested hellholes that are absolutely teeming with predators”

Look At The Extreme Social Decay That Is Spreading Like Wildfire In Many Of The Largest Cities In America

<http://endoftheamericandream.com/look-at-the-extreme-social-decay-that-is-spreading-like-wildfire-in-many-of-the-largest-cities-in-america/> “If you want to get a feel for what is really going on in this country, just walk the streets of our major cities. In fact, you don't even need to go to the “bad areas” to see the extreme social decay that is eating away at our communities like cancer. As you will see below, there are tent cities, open drug use and rampant crime within two blocks of the White House. Even the best parts of Washington D.C. are being “fundamentally transformed”, and there is no way to put a positive spin on this. From coast to coast, the number of addicts just continues to grow, the number of people sleeping on the streets just continues to grow, and crime rates are rising to frightening levels. If things are already this bad while the economy is still relatively stable, what will our major cities look like when economic conditions really start deteriorating in 2023 and beyond?”

WELCOME TO AMERICA

AMERICA'S MAGICAL THINKING Elizabeth Cronise McLaughlin

"...But it's not just that about which we are in denial. It's also about the death of American mythology. We've been lied to so long in America it's hard sometimes to know truth from fiction. I was born in 1971, and I was raised with history lessons in school that included things like Manifest Destiny (used to justify indigenous genocide, land theft, and the use of Chinese slave labor to build railroads), the “discovery” of America by Columbus (to justify violent colonialism), and the end of the enslavement of Black Americans as a distant historical event (as though the repercussions of it don’t live on to this day given that slavery was the foundation of American capitalism and white supremacy). Even as recently as the past few years, many of us have fallen for the lie that this is a real democracy*. Democracy, though, requires real representation and rule by the people, under the theory that the people have the right to rule. Democracy is supposed to be in direct opposition to autocracy, where power of the few (whether monarchs or oligarchs) is lorded over the many through extreme wealth disparity, abuse of power, and control of the many to benefit those in power. I ask you: which one sounds like more like America today? As but one example, over the past few days I’ve seen polling that indicates that more than 88% of Americans favor background checks on gun sales, and more than 67% favor an assault weapons ban. The likelihood that any such legislation will pass, though, is literally nil absent reform of the filibuster, the end to which lies in the hands of a tiny, tiny number of people. Some of us have known for a long time that America was a lie. Some of us are just waking up to it. How do you grieve the promise of a nation that never was?...”

america’s done; and, the world is glad!

The Top 10 Bullish And Bearish Drivers Into Year-End None of the US bear markets in the past 100 years ended before the associated recession had begun.

In the market arena, the bulls have the upper hand for now: Will that last?

	Bullish arguments	Bearish arguments
Inflation	Inflation has peaked: CPI, PPI prints confirm signals from inflation leading indicators	CPI core remains very volatile and could easily reverse course (re. March and July)
Growth	The US economy is strong; there may be no recession (soft landing)	The recession may turn out to be deeper once non-linearity kicks in
Expectations	Economic surprises have turned positive again, as expectations have adjusted	Rates markets price steep cuts after peak rates are reached (Goldilocks?)
Monetary policy	The Fed signalled a slower pace in FOMC statement; they are closer to neutral	The Fed leaned strongly against the market prompting an easing in financial conditions
Equity fundamentals	EPS have been downgraded and are expected to grow very gradually	EPS growth expectations are still too high for a slowdown/recession scenario
Equity valuations	Derating has been the main performance driver; valuations have now adjusted	Valuations remain high, especially given how high rates are now
Sentiment	Sentiment was exceptionally bearish	No sign of "capitulation" among investors
Historical precedents	The S&P500 was down 27% at the October trough, enough for a "minor" bear market	No bear market has ever ended before a recession started
Flows / Positioning	Non-commercial futures positioning remains net short	ETF interest is already back to start-of-the-year levels

DRUDGEREPORT

Trump's new nemesis poses biggest threat yet!

“...Between the lines: At least three major factors distinguish the new special counsel from the challenges and constraints of the Mueller investigation:

- 1. Protection: Trump is no longer in office, meaning the Justice Department policy that barred Mueller from indicting a sitting president does not apply. The tools Trump wielded to discredit and jam up the investigation — threatening to fire DOJ officials, dangling pardons and using his bully pulpit — are no longer available to him. Nor is his loyalist Attorney General Bill Barr, who cushioned the blow of the final Mueller report by releasing a summary before making it public.
- 2. Timing: Both Garland and Smith have stressed that the appointment will not slow the pace of either investigation. Smith is inheriting teams of prosecutors and agents that have already made significant headway, unlike Mueller, who had to “fly and build the plane simultaneously,” as Weissman wrote in a recent N.Y. Times column.
- 3. Scope: The sprawling Mueller probe involved both criminal and counterintelligence elements, with much of the key information buried in the bowels of a hostile foreign power. By comparison, the House Jan. 6 committee has already unearthed massive amounts of evidence expected to be referred to DOJ, while the Mar-a-Lago classified documents case is viewed by many legal experts as open-and-shut...”

EOAD Why Are Large Groups Of Animals, Insects And Birds Suddenly Walking In Circles All Over The Globe? By now, you have probably heard of a very strange phenomenon that has been taking the Internet by storm in recent days. Large groups of animals, insects and birds have been spotted walking in circles all over the planet, and there is lots of speculation about why this is happening. Some of the potential explanations that have been suggested are blaming this strange behavior on disease, changes in the magnetic field of the Earth, spoiled feed, parasitic brain worms, experiments at CERN, a coming pole shift or spikes in electromagnetic radiation.

Nikola Tesla

Nikola Tesla was, to say the least, quite a character. He went from rags to riches and back to rags, from high society to living largely as a recluse whose only friends were the local pigeons he visited every day. He was eccentric, but he was also a genius best known for inventing the modern alternating current electricity supply system. In 1934, in an interview with "The New York Times," Tesla explained in part what helped his genius thrive. Seclusion, he argued, was vital to the creative mind: "The mind is sharper and keener in seclusion and uninterrupted solitude. No big laboratory is needed in which to think." For Tesla, solitude was the key to innovation. "Be alone," he said, "that is the secret of invention; be alone, that is when ideas are born."

- Jeff Bezos, Elon Musk, and Charlie Munger have flagged the risk of a US recession.
- Carl Icahn, Jamie Dimon, and Ken Griffin are also bracing for a painful economic downturn.
- Here are 12 recession warnings from top executives, investors, and academics.

Jeff Bezos, Elon Musk, and Ken Griffin have sounded the alarm on a looming US recession, joining a chorus of CEOs, investors, and academics predicting a prolonged economic downturn.

Carl Icahn, Jamie Dimon, and Charlie Munger are also bracing for the economy to shrink and unemployment to spike. These experts have flagged numerous growth headwinds, including the Federal Reserve hiking interest rates to cool red-hot inflation, and the Russia-Ukraine war and China's ongoing lockdowns disrupting global trade.

Here are 12 recent recession warnings, lightly edited for length and clarity:

1. Jeff Bezos, Amazon's founder and executive chairman:

"The economy does not look great right now. Things are slowing down, you're seeing layoffs in many, many sectors. The probabilities say if we're not in a recession right now, we're likely to be in one very soon. Take as much risk off the table as you can. Hope for the best, but prepare for the worst."

"The probabilities in this economy tell you to batten down the hatches."

2. Elon Musk, CEO of Tesla, SpaceX, and Twitter:

"There's going to be probably a year or two of serious recession."

"Frankly, the economic picture ahead is dire, especially for a company like ours that is so dependent on advertising in a challenging economic climate."

3. Ken Griffin, CEO of Citadel:

"For the Fed to truly conquer inflation here, we're going to put unemployment somewhere in the mid-4% range. I find it hard to believe we're not going to have a recession at that point in time, sometime in the middle to back half of 2023."

4. Charlie Munger, Warren Buffett's business partner and vice-chairman of Berkshire Hathaway:

"I think the Fed is willing to have a little recession in order not to have out-of-control inflation. That's what they're supposed to do. They're supposed to be the one guy at the party that doesn't hang around the punch bowl getting drunk."

5. Carl Icahn, chairman of Icahn Enterprises:

"Whenever you have higher interest rates that have moved as they have here, you have an inverted yield curve, Treasuries at close to a 5% yield — you are going to have a recession. And I think we do have a recession already. There's a lot of things that have to happen to turn this economy around, to get us out of a recession."

6. Jamie Dimon, CEO of JPMorgan:

"There's a possibility of a mild recession. Consumers are in very good shape, companies are in very good shape. And there's a possibility of something worse, mostly because of the war in Ukraine and oil price and all things like that."

7. David Solomon, CEO of Goldman Sachs:

"Generally, when you find yourself in an economic scenario like this, where inflation is embedded, it's very hard to get out of it without a real economic slowdown. The US is most likely going to have a recession."

8. Jeff Gundlach, DoubleLine Capital CEO:

"Recession is easily 60% in the next six-to-eight months, and for the year 2023, I'd put it at more like 80%."

9. Leon Cooperman, CEO of Omega Advisors:

"The combination of Fed tightening, quantitative tightening, a strong dollar, and the price of oil will create a recession in the second half of 2023. We've pulled forward demand because of very inappropriate fiscal and monetary policies, and ultimately a price is going to be paid."

10. Greg Jensen, co-CIO of Bridgewater Associates:

"We are expecting a much bigger recession than the markets are expecting. 2023 will likely be the year of a very significant global recession."

"You probably won't see the bottom of the equity markets until they begin easing, six to seven months from now. You probably won't see the end of the bottom of the economy for another nine months or so after that."

11. Nouriel Roubini, NYU Stern economist known as "Dr. Doom":

"History suggests it's going to be near mission impossible to avoid a hard landing. You're going to get not only inflation, not only a recession, but what I call the 'Great Stagflationary Debt Crisis.' So it's much worse than the '70s, and it's probably as bad as during the Global Financial Crisis."

12. Ken Rogoff, Harvard economist:

"You really have to look at the world, which is in bad shape. It's very hard for the United States to resist that. I worry that not only are we going to get a mild recession, I think the chances that we get a significant recession are really pretty high."

TYPICAL CRAZY, CORRUPT, CRIMINAL AMERICA; here's one for the ages (had to post this):

For more than a decade, the family of a woman stabbed 20 times (evidence shows that at least two of the 20 stab wounds were inflicted after Greenberg's heart stopped beating) — including 10 from behind — has battled to have the Philadelphia medical examiner's ruling that her death was a suicide overturned. Ellen Greenberg, a 27-year-old teacher, was found covered in bruises and stabbed to death in her apartment during a blizzard more than a decade ago. Despite the blood-soaked crime scene, evidence her body had been moved and stab wounds to the back of her skull, investigators found "no evidence of a struggle in the kitchen area or anywhere else in the apartment." Dr. Marlon Osbourne, a former pathologist at the Medical Examiner's Office in Philadelphia, initially ruled the death a homicide, based on the injuries, then backtracked and revised the manner of death to suicide after conferring with city police, according to a civil lawsuit from Greenberg's family...Four key pieces of evidence caused him to doubt Osbourne's finding of suicide, he said. A wound to the top of her head, the fact that she was found seated upright, but blood had dripped sideways across her face — indicating that she had been moved — a large amount of bruises at different stages of healing, and the fiancé's Sam Goldberg's claim that he broke the locked door down when crime scene photos show the latch still attached to both the door and the frame. [There is no statute of limitations on murder – yes, that's right, bill clinton.]

[YUCK...HOW TOTALLY GROSS/DISGUSTING/HORRIFYING! I think I'm going to throw up!] Celebrity Deadline Jennifer Siebel Newsom Details Alleged Rape By Harvey Weinstein To

Courtroom; Defense Focuses On Gavin Newsom's Career & Ex-Mogul's Political Contributions – Update “UPDATED, 5:06 PM: “He

knew something was off when we were at the SAG Awards and the way Harvey looked at me,” Jennifer Siebel Newsom told defense lawyer Mark Werkman, jurors and onlookers Monday during her testimony at Harvey Weinstein’s Los Angeles rape trial, discussing her husband and then California Lt. Gov. Gavin Newsom’s knowledge by 2017 of the producer’s alleged assault of her several years beforehand. “I dropped hints along the way,” California’s First Partner added in what was often emotional, tearful and graphic testimony. Scrutinized by Werkman about when and how she informed Newsom of the alleged rape by Weinstein in his suite at the Peninsula Hotel more than 17 years ago, Siebel Newsom was overcome by sobs at several points during her time on the stand. Centering on the political connections of frequent big-bucks contributor Weinstein over the decades to various high-profile Democrats, the defense lawyer remained oblivious to the witness’ anguish. “Well, is that just politics, that you just take money from someone who has done something despicable to your wife unless everybody finds out about it?” Werkman said in his cross-examination this afternoon. Identified as Jane Doe #4 in Weinstein’s West Coast trial, Siebel Newsom revealed her true name last month ahead of her testimony in Judge Lisa Lench’s downtown courtroom. Pilloried on the stand today when the defense had its turn, Siebel Newsom is expected to be back for more testimony Tuesday in what could be the closing days of this trial. With Weinstein facing almost a dozen sex-crimes charges and looking at 140 years maximum behind bars if found guilty, sources on both sides have expressed that Siebel Newsom’s testimony could prove pivotal in the case. Earlier in the day, after initially returning from the lunch break, the witness described in vivid detail going to meet Weinstein in the Beverly Hills hotel when she was a young and unmarried filmmaker/actress charmed by the attention the then-mogul gave her. “I was confused,” Siebel Newsom explained when she was contacted suddenly by a Weinstein assistant and told their meeting would be in the producer’s suite. “I was a little hesitant. I was expecting to meet him where the noise and the buzz was and there was all this conversation. I was just confused, and I didn’t know what to do.” Let into Weinstein’s “opulent” suite by an assistant, Siebel Newsom stated how things quickly took a turn for the worse and the deadly. Called to join Weinstein in the bathroom, she found him masturbating. Overcome and admitting she found some memories of the incident “confusing,” the witness told Deputy DA Marlene Martinez and the court how Weinstein explained what was happening to her. “He was asserting himself and tried to tell me that he, he mentioned several actresses names, he tried to tell me that this was the industry, and in a way like threaten me.” Allegedly hauling her into the suite’s main bedroom, Weinstein began assaulting her again, putting his fingers inside her, the witness said. “He knows this is not normal, he knows this is not consent,” Siebel Newsom asserted in a loud voice with Weinstein sitting mere feet away at the defense table with his lawyers. “I could tell he just needed, he was so determined, just so scary, just all about him and his pleasure, his need for satisfaction, so I just did it to make it stop,” she added of Weinstein, who tried putting his “weird and messed up” penis inside her and having non-consensual sex with her and then performing forced cunnilingus on her. “Oh, I just made some noises to get him to ejaculate faster,” Siebel Newsom said of then masturbating Weinstein. “There was silence on my part,” Siebel Newsom told the court after Weinstein ejaculated. “I just remember not having words. I just wanted to get the f*ck out of there, pardon my language,” she said, crying again. “I just remember being shocked by everything,” Siebel Newsom said of the small talk Weinstein made afterwards and her leaving his suite. “It was like the Twilight Zone, I just walked down this hallway it felt like forever,” she noted. “It was like an out-of-body experience. I just remember I got my car at the valet.” Siebel Newsom admitted on the stand that she did not go to police after the incident, a decision she indicated was made in part because of a bad experience she had with law enforcement after her sibling’s death years before...” Celebrity INSIDER Gavin Newsom's wife fills Weinstein trial with supporters and recounts 'nightmare' assault that made her feel like a 'blow-up doll'

One Way Or Another, The Population Of The Globe Will Soon Be Much Smaller Than It Is Right Now

“This week it is being reported that the human population of our planet has now reached 8 billion. We should all remember this moment, because soon the population of the globe will start getting much smaller. In “End Times”, I explain that we are moving into one of the most chaotic times in all of human history. There will be wars and rumors of wars, economic collapse, worldwide famines, horrifying pestilences and great natural disasters. Needless to say, in such a future the global population would fall very Midterms Post-Mortem: Comprehending GOP's Underwhelming Performance There have been various theories on why it went so wrong...

Joe Biden, despite his catastrophic misgovernance, historic unpopularity, and rapidly declining cognitive abilities, could end up with a better mid-term record than Democrat stars such as Barack Obama and Bill Clinton. [AMERICA IS TOTAL ABSOLUTE SHIT!]

Let's examine some theories that are being put forth.

DID THE NARRATIVE OF THE RED WAVE SEEM LIKE HUBRIS?

At times rosy expectations can be the mother of all disappointments. The relentless talk of a red wave, which began in conservative media and spread like wildfire, could have had multiple consequences.

Perhaps GOP voters presumed a victory was inevitable and chose to stay home. Perhaps Democrat voters thinking that their party needs them in times of peril chose to vote.

Perhaps some voters thought of this talk of the red wave as hubris.

Voters often do not like politicians taking them for granted and second-guessing them.

Perhaps they decided to give the GOP a reality check?

THE OVERTURNING OF ROE V WADE?

It will never be easy to gauge what impact the overturning of Roe had on the mind of the public, especially women.

Dr. Oz said “I don’t want the federal government involved with that at all. I want women, doctors, local political leaders, letting the democracy that’s always allowed our nation to thrive to put the best ideas forward so states can decide for themselves.”

Oz was making a broader point about law-making by consulting all parties involved. Most of the mainstream media claimed Dr. Oz thinks that the decision to have an abortion must be between a woman, her doctor, and local politicians.

Perhaps women truly feared that the Republicans would be involved each time they visited the gynecologist. Perhaps women feared imprisonment for even mentioning abortion. Perhaps they believed the claim that contraception would also be restricted.

Fear tactics often work, irrespective of whether the claims are factual.

Perhaps the Democrats managed to scare people sufficiently.

WAS IT THE MEDIA?

The mainstream media is the propaganda arm of the Democrats, while most Republicans get their news from Fox News, Breitbart, The Daily Caller, NewsMax, and various other right-leaning websites.

But what about independents? Perhaps they brought the media narrative that if the GOP wins there will never ever be elections in the US and Trump would become a dictator.

END OF THE TRUMP ERA?

Some experts claimed that Trump's choice of candidates was a major reason for the GOP's subpar performance. They cite the loss of Dr. Oz to severely cognitively impaired John Fetterman to demonstrate their point. They feel Trump incorrectly endorsed celebrity Doctor Oz; perhaps a principled conservative and a Pennsylvania local would have served better. They claim that the underperforming of the GOP is proof that Trump's era has passed. They claim he should gracefully step aside and allow Ron DeSantis to be the nominee in 2024. They claim Trump lacks discipline, has too much baggage, and polarizes people with his rhetoric.

So what has Trump's record been so far in the race?

But:

Since Trump descended the escalator in 2015 to announce his Presidential campaign, there have been many who have been predicting his political demise. Yet he still remains a force to reckon with in the party. It would be a mistake to count Trump out this easily.

Beginning of the DeSantis era?

Ron DeSantis was re-elected in Florida by almost 20 points; it was an emphatic routing of his Democratic opponent.

After DeSantis's victory speech, the crowd chanted "USA! USA! USA!" and, in a nod to an expected presidential run chanted, "Two more years!"

The DeSantis wing of the GOP claimed that DeSantis is Trump without the baggage. They say he is disciplined in his message, he is younger and has a proven track record of governance during crises such as COVID-19 and Hurricane Ian. hence is a much more viable Presidential Candidate.

They say cite winning among minorities to make the case for his broad appeal. DeSantis is the first Republican gubernatorial candidate since Jeb Bush to win Miami-Dade, the state's largest county, which also has its largest Hispanic population and was once considered a Democrat bastion.

But does a victory in Florida make him a viable candidate all over the US?

What about the point of having no Trump baggage? The Democrats may despise DeSantis, but they haven't gone after DeSantis the way they have targeted Trump. If he becomes the GOP nominee in 2024, they will give him the Trump treatment or perhaps worse. They could dig dirt or invent lies about DeSantis, i.e., create a great deal of baggage for him.

Even worse, President Trump just openly threatened to sling mud at him, saying, "If he did run, I will tell you things about him that won't be very flattering. I know more about him than anybody other than perhaps his wife, who is really running his campaign."

What about DeSantis's endorsements?

DeSantis endorsed Colorado Senate Candidate Joe O'Dea and recorded an automated phone call for the campaign, saying "I've watched Joe from a distance. And I'm impressed." O'Dea went on to lose his race. But Colorado is a liberal state; perhaps O'Dea was going to lose anyway?

In the end, it isn't pundits or experts who will decide the GOP nominee it is the public who will cast their vote.

What about funding?

It has to be remembered that no candidate can win without a minimum amount of funding. A MAGA victory is as troubling to establishment GOP leaders as it is for Democrats.

It has been documented that for various Senate races, the GOP leadership in Washington, i.e., Mitch McConnell, were not supporting MAGA candidates financially. Perhaps that played a factor in impeding the candidates from pushing their message and the overall narrative.

Did Biden's meddling help?

Biden signed Executive Order 14019 back in March asking all 600 federal agencies to "consider ways to expand citizens' opportunities to register to vote and to obtain information about, and participate in, the electoral process."

The details of what was actually done remain unclear.
Perhaps Democrat voters were surgically mobilized?
Perhaps voter identification rules were relaxed?

We will never know because Biden refused to share details about its coordinated efforts to engage in a federal takeover of the administration of elections.

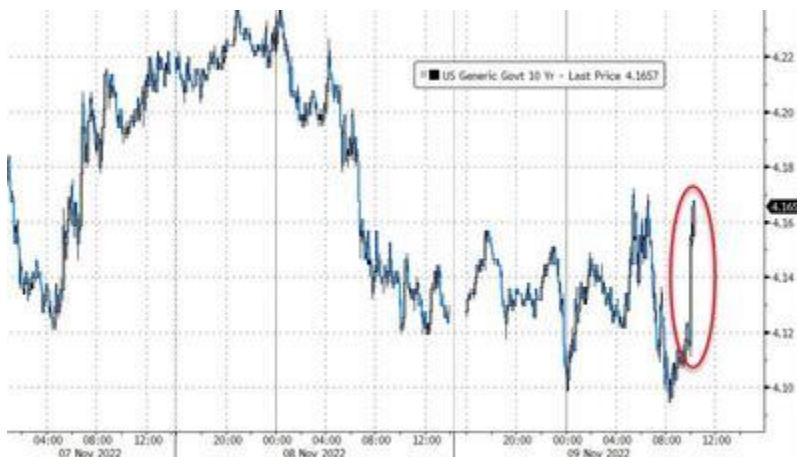

This concealment makes it very suspicious.

Did ABC News Reveal the States Democrats Would 'Steal' on Election Day After 'Red Mirage'? Snopes.com

Newsweek>And the one person they can thank for their historic showing is the once and future presumptive Republican nominee for president, Donald Trump. While there are many winners in Democrats' history-defying election, it is clear Trump was the night's biggest loser.

As he has done repeatedly in the past, Trump, with his insatiable need to be at the center of the political universe, has cost Republicans an election they should have won in a landslide.

It happened in 2017, in deep-red Alabama when Trump went all-in to support Roy Moore, despite numerous accusations Moore sexually assaulted underage women, and handed Democrats a key Senate seat, sending the first Democratic senator from the state in 25 years to the Senate. It happened again in the 2018 midterms as Trump lost the third-most House seats of a sitting president in modern history, giving Democrats their biggest gains in the House since Watergate. In 2019, against the political odds, Democrats flipped the governorship in Kentucky and won the governor's race in Louisiana. And in 2020, Trump worked his political magic for Republicans, becoming the first incumbent president in nearly 30 years to fail to win reelection and, in doing so, handed Democrats the Senate with an improbable double runoff win in Georgia.

On top of all that, Trump was the first Republican president to see a net loss of Republican-held state legislative seats during a first term since Richard Nixon.

Newsweek subscription offers >

For a man who told us that he would win so much we'd get tired of it, that is an impressive record of losing.

In fact, despite all his bluster, the man who is about to declare his third presidential run in as many presidential election cycles, as soon as next week, has never gotten more votes than his opponent. In the one election Trump managed to win, via the Electoral College, it was by fewer than 78,000 votes spread across three states—or fewer people than fit in many college football stadiums on Saturday afternoons.

Record-high inflation, high gas prices, a record number of Americans believing the country is headed in the wrong direction, and an incumbent president with an approval rating stuck underwater for months all should have led to big, and potentially historic, gains for Republicans in this election. But thanks to Trump's ensuring the election was not a referendum on President Biden but rather a choice between Democratic policies and MAGA extremism, and by handpicking and pushing through the primaries weak candidates whose sole qualification was blind loyalty to Trump's election denialism—candidates like Mehmet Oz, Blake Masters, Don Bolduc, Kari Lake, and others—Democrats were able to defy political gravity and historic trends...”

[Pair of New York guineas ... Typical wops!]

“A recording recovered from the home by investigators captured the two accused murderers cold-heartedly discussing Thomas after another child is heard asking why the boy couldn’t walk.”

“Because he’s hypothermic,” replies Pollina.

“He keeps face-planting on the concrete,” says Valva.

“You know why he’s falling,” says Pollina.

Pollina then asked the cop what he was doing to Thomas, with Valva responding, “I’m f---ing suffocating him, that’s what I’m doing.”

While defense attorney Matthew Tuohy said the couple denied any part in the boy’s death, Suffolk County District Attorney Timothy Sini promised to hit the accused killers as hard as legally possible.

“The depravity of these defendants is shocking,” said a shaken Sini after hearing the recorded conversation. “They caused the death of this little boy, then watched him die.”

Tehran responds to Biden's 'Iran will free itself' comment In a televised speech on Friday, Iranian President Ebrahim Raisi dismissed US President Joe Biden's promise to "free Iran," telling his American counterpart that the country secured its freedom when the pro-Western Shah was deposed in 1979. Tehran has accused the US and its allies of instigating a wave of anti-government protests in recent months.

Five Lingering Questions About The Bizarre Paul Pelosi Attack

There's a good chance the attack happened exactly as the media and left-wing politicians are reporting it. But I've also identified five questions everyone should be anxiously awaiting the answers to.

Quoth the Raven

56 min ago

Everybody was stunned on Friday morning when news broke that the 82 year old husband of Speaker of the House Nancy Pelosi had been assaulted inside of his home early in the morning with a hammer.

The shock and awe grew after it seemed to become clear that the assailant was looking for the Speaker of the House herself - the third in line to the Presidency.

An assailant broke into the home and asked "Where's Nancy? Where's Nancy?", according to NBC in the Bay Area.

San Francisco police Chief Bill Scott called it an “intentional” attack:

"This was not a random attack. This was intentional. And it's wrong. Our elected officials are here to do the business of their cities, their counties, and their states, and this nation. Their families don't sign up for this -- to be harmed. And it's wrong."

As such, DePape is now facing charges of attempted murder and other felonies.

I wholly condemn the attack, as I do all violence (especially political violence).

"This is an outrage and our hearts are with the entire Pelosi family.  We pray Paul will make a full recovery," former VP Mike Pence Tweeted this weekend.

And though I am hardly a fan of Ted Cruz, I think he said it best when he wrote on Twitter this weekend:

"We can have our political differences, but violence is always wrong & unacceptable."

It is not in any way in dispute that Pelosi was attacked violently and wound up in the hospital as a result of his injuries.

It is also not in dispute that 911 was called and dispatcher Heather Grimes had the intuition to order a wellness check at the household based on what she heard. Her intuition may very well have saved Pelosi's life, and she should be commended for it.

Politicians on the left wasted absolutely no time attributing the Pelosi attack to "The Republican Party" and "far right white nationalists".

And, as Glenn Greenwald writes on Sunday morning, it's "very possible that the instantly formed media narrative...will be proven true".

For example, Hillary Clinton said on Saturday:

"The Republican Party and its mouthpieces now regularly spread hate and deranged conspiracy theories. It is shocking, but not surprising, that violence is the result. As citizens, we must hold them accountable for their words and the actions that follow."

Rep. Ilhan Omar Tweeted out on Saturday that the attacker, DePape, was a "far right white nationalist":

"A far right white nationalist tried to assassinate the Speaker of the House and almost killed her husband a year after violent insurrectionists tried to find her and kill her in the Capitol, and the Republican Party's response is to either ignore it or belittle it."

President Joe Biden, with seemingly little to no evidence, attributed the attack to 2020 election deniers

"You can't just say, feel badly about the violence, we condemn it. Condemn what produces the violence.

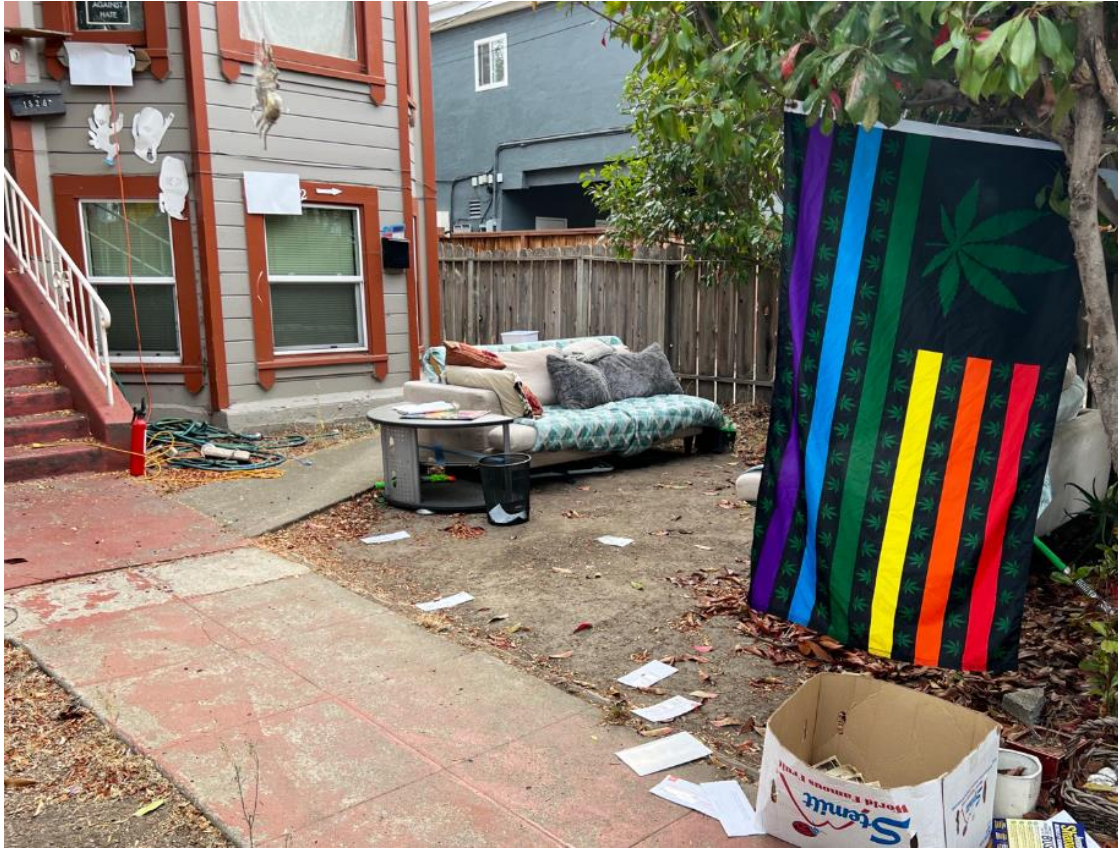

This talk produces the violence. The generic point I want to make is it's one thing to condemn the violence but you can't condemn the violence unless you condemn those people who continue to argue the election was not real, that it's being stolen."

While these politicians may ultimately prove to be right, it's worth noting that there are some basic journalistic gaps in the story that need to be answered.

The first question we are left to wonder is the obvious: what was DePape's true motivation?

Both sides in the media have painted the assailant in different lights. For example, Politico wrote that “he subscribed to the discredited narrative that the 2020 presidential election was illegitimate and espoused a range of bigoted and radical beliefs. He expressed anti-Semitic views and appeared to embrace the QAnon movement, which posits a secret cabal of pedophiles has been protected by people in power.”

But then there was this NY Post opinion piece (and Substack post) by Michael Shellenberger, which noted that “DePape lived with a notorious local nudist in a Berkeley home, complete with a Black Lives Matter sign in the window and an LGBT rainbow flag, emblazoned with a marijuana symbol, hanging from a tree”.

DePape's former residence

DePape's neighbors said of him:

“What I know about the family is that they’re very radical activists. They seem very left. They are all about the Black Lives Matter movement. Gay pride. But they’re very detached from reality. They have called the cops on several of the neighbors, including us, claiming that we are plotting against them. It’s really weird to see that they are willing to be so aggressive toward somebody else who is also a lefty.”

Finally, on Sunday it was reported that DePape’s ex and purported former life partner Oxane Taub, told Fox News that he used to be left-leaning:

"When I met him, he was only 20 years old , and he didn't have any experience in politics, and he was very much in alignment with my views, and I've always been very progressive. I absolutely admire Nancy Pelosi."

Possible explanation: It is possible that these leaders on the left are correct. There is also the possibility that DePape's mental faculties were lacking - or that something entirely different was taking place. We should know when DePape enters his defense what his side of the story is.

The second question is: who is the unidentified person that let law enforcement into the home the morning of the break-in?

Politico reported early this weekend that there was apparently a third person in the home at the time of the incident:

David DePape forced his way into the home through a back entrance, Scott said. Officers arrived at the house, knocked on the front door and were let inside by an unknown person. They discovered DePape and Pelosi struggling for a hammer, and after they instructed them to drop the weapon, Scott said, DePape took the hammer and "violently attacked" Pelosi.

Possible explanation: Was it a housekeeper? Live-in staff? Body cam footage should make this clear.

A third question relates to whether or not it is normal for glass to be on the outside of the home due to a forced entry into the home.

It was reported that the suspect, not law enforcement, entered through the sliding glass door. ABC News wrote:

"The break in at Nancy Pelosi's house is suspected to be targeted, law enforcement sources tell ABC News. The suspect allegedly entered the house through a sliding glass door, carrying a hammer, and was apparently looking for the House Speaker herself.”

Broken window at the Pelosi residence (NBC Bay Area)

Putting aside that these appear to be french doors, and not sliding glass doors, one must then ask if this is the point of entry in question.

The opinion of D. W. Wilber, who has “over thirty years of experience in Security and Counterterrorism as a former Intelligence Officer serving with the Central Intelligence Agency and the Department of Defense in Eastern and Western Europe, the Middle East, and law enforcement,” was that the glass on the outside of the door was an anomaly.

D. W. Wilber @DWWilber1

As a cop for 11 yrs in St. Louis I never once worked a burglary where the broken glass and debris at the entry point was OUTSIDE the residence.

Possible explanation:* Perhaps these weren't the doors in question during the attack, or perhaps the door was broken from the inside out during the struggle and was not the point of entry.

Which brings us to the fourth unanswered question, which was whether or not there was security in, or around, the house the night of the incident.

Lawyer Harmeet K. Dhillon wrote on Twitter this weekend that there were “multiple law enforcement officers” on the perimeter of Pelosi’s home when they tried to serve a lawsuit there.

“My firm served a lawsuit against Paul Pelosi one time in SF after attempting to serve at other residences—Napa, Georgetown. They weren’t home, but staff were, & multiple law enforcement officers were on the perimeter. Break-in is odd given this level of security.”

Harmeet K. Dhillon @pnjaban

My firm served a lawsuit against Paul Pelosi one time in SF after attempting to serve at other residences—Napa, Georgetown. They weren’t home, but staff were, & multiple law enforcement officers were on the perimeter. Break-in is odd given this level of security.

Possible explanation:* Is it possible there was no security because Nancy Pelosi wasn’t on the premises?

And as Glenn Greenwald pointed out this weekend, there's also the fifth question of how Paul Pelosi was able to take a bathroom break in the midst of an attack.

Greenwald is right when he says it “requires more scrutiny” after Politico reported that Pelosi told the intruder “he had to go use the bathroom” in the midst of the break-in. From there, Pelosi was apparently able to dial 911 from a phone that he had left charging...in the bathroom.

Glenn Greenwald @ggreenwald

As one example: I don't think it's particularly common for violent assassins to take a break in their attempted murder to allow their targets to have a bathroom break. Maybe this particular assassin was more polite than most, but it requires more scrutiny politico.com/news/2022/10/2...

Law enforcement officials are still investigating how the alleged assailant, identified by police as 42-year-old David DePape, was able to access the speaker's home and have not yet assessed a motive.

Paul Pelosi was able to dial 911 himself after telling the intruder he had to go use the bathroom and then calling from there, where his phone had been charging, according to a person familiar with the situation. He was hospitalized after the attack at Zuckerberg San Francisco General Hospital, where he successfully underwent surgery to repair a skull fracture and "serious injuries to his right arm and hands," Pelosi spokesperson Drew Hammill said in a statement Friday evening.

Possible explanation: Your guess is as good as mine.

The very same Politico article that pointed out the bathroom break also noted that the 911 dispatcher thought there was "something more to [the 911 call]".

The emerging portrait of a politically motivated attack by a man who consumed fringe conspiracy theories has shocked San Francisco and stoked fresh concerns about elected officials facing violence.

While authorities have not detailed a motive, DePape's online history indicates that he subscribed to the discredited narrative that the 2020 presidential election was illegitimate and espoused a range of bigoted and radical beliefs. He expressed anti-Semitic views and appeared to embrace the QAnon movement, which posits a secret cabal of pedophiles has been protected by people in power.

Scott also thanked the responding emergency dispatcher Heather Grives for recognizing something was wrong when Paul Pelosi dialed 911, allowing police to spring into action.

"What he said, she felt there was something more to it," Scott said.

You can listen to the call here and decide for yourself. Was Pelosi speaking in code to try and get a message to the operator - and not DePape - that he was in distress?

Or, when the operator said there was "something more" to the call, was she referring to something else?

There's a good chance the media and politicians are right and this attack was an abhorrent, politically motivated violent act and, again, I strongly condemn violence of all types, especially political violence.

But there are also several gaping holes in the story that I think good ole' fashioned journalism - and probably some police body camera footage - will shed some much needed light on.

I'll leave you with a quote from Elon Musk, who noted on Sunday morning in response to Hillary Clinton that there's "a tiny possibility there might be more to this story than meets the eye".

We'll just have to wait and see.

WELCOME TO AMERICA

AMERICA'S MAGICAL THINKING Elizabeth Cronise McLaughlin

"...But it's not just that about which we are in denial. It's also about the death of American mythology. We've been lied to so long in America it's hard sometimes to know truth from fiction. I was born in 1971, and I was raised with history lessons in school that included things like Manifest Destiny (used to justify indigenous genocide, land theft, and the use of Chinese slave labor to build railroads), the "discovery" of America by Columbus (to justify violent colonialism), and the end of the enslavement of Black Americans as a distant historical event (as though the repercussions of it don't live on to this day given that slavery was the foundation of American capitalism and white supremacy). Even as recently as the past few years, many of us have fallen for the lie that this is a real democracy*. Democracy, though, requires real representation and rule by the people, under the theory that the people have the right to rule. Democracy is supposed to be in direct opposition to autocracy, where power of the few (whether monarchs or oligarchs) is lorded over the many through extreme wealth disparity, abuse of power, and control of the many to benefit those in power. I ask you: which one sounds like more like America today? As but one example, over the past few days I've seen polling that indicates that more than 88% of Americans favor background checks on gun sales, and more than 67% favor an assault weapons ban. The likelihood that any such legislation will pass, though, is literally nil absent reform of the filibuster, the end to which lies in the hands of a tiny, tiny number of people. Some of us have known for a long time that America was a lie. Some of us are just waking up to it. How do you grieve the promise of a nation that never was?..."

NEVER FORGET

Just remember that the largest mass shooting in US History happened on December 29, 1890. The US Army confiscated the firearms and weapons of the Sioux Indians "for their own safety," and then proceeded to slaughter 297 people, including 200 women and children. NEVER let the government be the only ones with the guns. Our founders ensured our right to self protection and it's about time you realized that!

FACT.

[Uh oh ... fodder for the anti-semites]

Donald W.

Some say Ukraine can not be Nazi because a Jew is in charge but me say A 28-year-old New York man who is Grand Dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in charge of New York State, former national secretary of the American Nazi Party, and at one time or another a member of at least four Fascist groups advocating extreme racism against Jews and Negroes, was revealed by the New York Times to be a Jew himself. The man is Daniel Burros. And if you folks knew how the U.S. Intelligence really operates, y'all would understand how it is absolutely a fact that Ukraine is a Nazi State.

LEADER OF K.K.K. AND AMERICAN NAZI PARTY REVEALED TO BE A JEW <https://www.jta.org/archive/leader-of-k-k-k-and-american-nazi-party-revealed-to-be-a-jew>

A 28-year-old New York man who is Grand Dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in charge of New York State, former national secretary of the American Nazi Party, and at one time or another a member of at least four Fascist groups advocating extreme racism against Jews and Negroes, was revealed by the New York Times today to be a Jew himself.

The man is Daniel Burros, among whose other activities is that of publisher of a paper called “The Free American,” which calls itself “the battle organ of racial Fascism.” The paper has referred to Hitler as the “sacred leader,” asserting that “the work begun by the Master will continue to a victorious conclusion.”

The New York Times disclosed that Burros’ parents, George Burros, now 71, and the former Esther Sunshine, now 62, were married by a cantor in The Bronx in 1936. The boy, Daniel, was a “star pupil” at the Congregation Talmud Torah, in the borough of Queens, where he became bar mitzvah in the congregation’s synagogue. After study at the John Adams High School, where he was an honor pupil with a high I.Q, he served two years in the army as a paratrooper. He had tried to enroll in the U.S. Military Academy at West Point but was not admitted.

Among the Fascist groups to which Daniel Burros has belonged at one time or another, in addition to the KKK and the American Nazi Party, have been, the Times reported, the National Renaissance Party and the British National Party. The newspaper stated that he carries now a card identifying him as a “special agent of the Invisible Empire” of the Klan. He was reported to have been arrested and convicted four times for extremist activities in Washington and in New York.

The Times quoted Burros as saying to a reporter who questioned Burros about his Jewish background, as saying: “If you publish this, I’ll come and get you, and I’ll kill you. I don’t care what happens, I’ll be ruined. This is all I’ve got to live for.”

“...Meanwhile, both sides continue to escalate the war in Ukraine.

At this point, the United States is providing more equipment to the Ukrainian military than everyone else combined. In a recent article that he published, Raheem Kassam attempted to put together a complete list of everything that we have sent them so far...

- Over 1,400 Stinger anti-aircraft systems;
- Over 8,500 Javelin anti-armor systems;
- Over 32,000 other anti-armor systems;
- Over 700 Switchblade Tactical Unmanned Aerial Systems;
- 126 155mm Howitzers and up to 806,000 155mm artillery rounds
- 2,000 precision-guided 155mm artillery rounds;
- 20 105mm Howitzers and 180,000 105mm artillery rounds;

- 126 Tactical Vehicles to tow 155mm Howitzers;
- 22 Tactical Vehicles to recover equipment;
- 16 High Mobility Artillery Rocket Systems and ammunition;
- 20 120mm mortar systems and 85,000 rounds of 120mm mortar rounds;
- 1,500 Tube-Launched, Optically-Tracked, Wire-Guided (TOW) missiles;
- Four Command Post vehicles;
- Eight National Advanced Surface-to-Air Missile Systems (NASAMS) and munitions
- High-speed Anti-radiation missiles (HARMs);
- 20 Mi-17 helicopters;
- Hundreds of Armored High Mobility Multipurpose Wheeled Vehicles (HMMWVs);
- Four trucks and eight trailers to transport heavy equipment;
- 200 M113 Armored Personnel Carriers;
- 40 MaxxPro Mine Resistant Ambush Protected Vehicles with mine rollers
- Mine clearing equipment and systems;
- Over 10,000 grenade launchers and small arms;
- Over 60,000,000 rounds of small arms ammunition;
- Over 75,000 sets of body armor and helmets;
- Approximately 700 Phoenix Ghost Tactical Unmanned Aerial Systems;
- Laser-guided rocket systems;

- Puma Unmanned Aerial Systems;
- 15 Scan Eagle Unmanned Aerial Systems;
- Unmanned Coastal Defense Vessels;
- Over 50 counter-artillery radars;
- Four counter-mortar radars;
- Counter-Unmanned Aerial Systems;
- Ten air surveillance radars;
- Two harpoon coastal defense systems;
- 18 coastal and riverine patrol boats;
- M18A1 Claymore anti-personnel munitions;
- C-4 explosives, demolition munitions, and demolition equipment for obstacle clearing;
- Tactical secure communications systems;
- Thousands of night vision devices, thermal imagery systems, optics, and laser rangefinders;
- Commercial satellite imagery services;
- Explosive ordnance disposal protective gear;
- Chemical, Biological, Radiological, Nuclear protective equipment;
- 100 armored medical treatment vehicles;
- Medical supplies to include first aid kits, bandages, monitors, and other equipment;
- Electronic jamming equipment;
- Field equipment, cold weather gear, and spare parts;

- Funding for training, maintenance, and sustainment.

That is one long list!

And of course the Ukrainians are asking for even more, and we aren't going to refuse them.

In fact, there are rumblings that we are going to give them longer range missiles that can reach deep inside Russia.

A PIECE of moon rock given to an overseas politician by the United States is actually a lump of petrified wood, museum authorities revealed yesterday. The matchbox-sized exhibit (pictured) was originally given to Dutch prime minister Willem Drees in 1969 by then-US ambassador William Middendorf as a souvenir of the Apollo 11 moon landing. The Rijksmuseum in Amsterdam received the rock upon Drees's death in 1988.

Al Peia

The joke's on america (they do it for the money and propaganda). Non-filtered report I read said Russians denied it happened (beyond film fake). That they've not been back, deep-sixed their saturn rockets, and no moon base strongly argues the factual reality: FAKE! Another article said Kubrick was approached but turned them down; while another said he was handsomely paid for the fake.

In The Shining, Kubrick changed the infamous room number to 237. The average distance from the Moon to Earth is approximately 237.000km. We see Danny wear an Apollo 11

Shame on me. I believed this fraud for most of my life and I should have known better in 1969.

Other than Kodak film (and Hasselblad cameras) that could not function at lunar temperatures (not to mention the radiation or outgassing in a vacuum) or the total lack of any blast crater or the lack of rockets on lift-off from the moon or the sounds heard while on the "lunar" surface or the laser-ranging which started in 1962

or the waving flags or the improbable "pressure [space] suits"

or the violations of Newton's 2nd law or the ridiculously inadequate guidance systems or the relatively poor special effects (not even CGI)

or the lack of telemetry

or the lack of radiation protection or the utter quiet of a 140+ decibel engine or the ludicrous lack of computer power or the "moon rocks" from....well, petrified wood?

or the "astronauts" dangling from wires or the Lunar Rover which looks like a Mattel model

....but they did make a full-scale model for 60 million bucks or the billions in additional funds for "Paperclip" or the total lack of stars or photos of the sky or the very suspicious look to the front-screen filming or the clues in "Eyes Wide Shut" and elsewhere (etc.)

or the incredible effort by NASA and JTRIG to shut down discussion of the fraud, and mock those who would expose it.... or (for bonus points) the lack of an airlock on the LEM
Other than that, maybe we really went? The TV told me so.

Just remember that the largest mass shooting in US History happened on December 29, 1890. The US Army confiscated the firearms and weapons of the Sioux Indians "for their own safety," and then proceeded to slaughter 297 people, including 200 women and children. NEVER let the government be the only ones with the guns. Our founders ensured our right to self protection and it's about time you realized that!

In reality it is just a piece of petrified wood ... Another piece of evidence that shows again that Apollo program is indeed a fake and a fraud

A PIECE of moon rock given to an overseas politician by the United States is actually a lump of petrified wood, museum authorities revealed yesterday. The matchbox-sized exhibit (pictured) was originally given to Dutch prime minister Willem Drees in 1969 by then-US ambassador William Middendorf as a souvenir of the Apollo 11 moon landing. The Rijksmuseum in Amsterdam received the rock upon Drees's death in 1988.

"It's a ... pretty-much-worthless stone," said Frank Beunk, a geologist involved in the investigation.

The joke's on america (they do it for the money and propaganda). Non-filtered report I read said Russians denied it happened (beyond film fake). That they've not been back, deep-sixed their saturn rockets, and no moon base strongly argues the factual reality: FAKE! Another article said Kubrick was approached but turned them down; while another said he was handsomely paid for the fake.

In The Shining, Kubrick changed the infamous room number to 237. The average distance from the Moon to Earth is approximately 237.000km. We see Danny wear an Apollo 11 sweater, and the carpet pattern looks like a rocket launch pad.

Trump cheated 'all of us': New York AG files $250M lawsuit

<https://www.yahoo.com/news/letitia-james-sues-trump-family-business-fraud-154641833.html>

“... James listed a series of allegations against Trump, including that he misstated the value and size of his own triplex apartment in Trump Tower. She alleged that in some filings, his Florida resort and home, Mar-a-Lago, was valued as high as $739 million when it should have been closer to $75 million. James also claimed that Trump inflated the value of other properties and unsold memberships at his golf clubs. The formal complaint includes examples involving 23 assets, but James said her office found more than 200 examples on his filings over the years.

The New York attorney general said she is making a criminal referral to the Internal Revenue Service and the Southern District of New York.

James said that her office is also asking the court to permanently bar Trump and the three Trump children from serving as an officer or director on any corporation registered or licensed in New York state, as well as ban Trump and his organization from entering into any commercial real estate acquisitions in the state for five years and from applying for loans with New York-based banks for that same period..."

DRUDGEREPORT Calls Haberman 'My Psychiatrist'...
<https://www.theatlantic.com/ideas/archive/2022/09/donald-trump-maggie-haberman-mar-a-lago/671510/> (This article is adapted from Haberman's forthcoming book) BUY THIS BOOK September 25, 2022 About the author: Maggie Haberman is a White House correspondent for The New York Times. She is the author of Confidence Man: The Making of Donald Trump and the Breaking of America.

Excerpt: “Can you believe these are my customers?” Donald Trump once asked while surveying the crowd in the Taj Mahal casino’s poker room. “Look at those losers,” he said to his consultant Tom O’Neil, of people spending money on the floor of the Trump Plaza casino. Visiting the Iowa State Fair as a presidential candidate in 2015, he was astounded that locals fell in line to support him because of a few free rides in his branded helicopter. In the White House, he was sometimes stunned at his own backers’ fervor, telling aides, “They’re fucking crazy.” Yet they loved him and wanted to own a piece of him, and that was what mattered most. Almost immediately after his defeat in 2020, Trump began fundraising off his claims of fraud, turning to his ardent fans for support...”

https://www.huffpost.com/entry/pelosi-congress-insider-trading_n_63374676e4b0e376dbf6c714

“...The bill was also written without input from many key lawmakers in the ongoing push to ban congressional stock trades, according to good-government groups and members of Congress. One of those members, Rep. Abigail Spanberger (D-Va.), who introduced a ban with Rep. Chip Roy (R-Texas) in January 2021, strafed Hoyer and Pelosi on Friday for introducing “a kitchen-sink package that they knew would fail.” “I don’t think this bill was written to pass the House,” she told Business Insider. In another interview, she called for new party leadership. “Absolutely this was a bill designed not to pass.” - Dylan Hedtler-Gaudette, manager of government affairs at the Project on Government Oversight Watchdogs echoed her suspicions that Pelosi and Hoyer were trying to snuff out any chance of reform...” [Typical WOP!]

JACK SMITH (LAWYER)

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Early life and education

Smith grew up in Clay, New York, a suburb of Syracuse.^{[1][2]} In 1987 he graduated from Liverpool High School^[3] where he played football and baseball.^[2] He earned his Bachelor of Arts summa cum laude from the State University of New York at Oneonta^{[4][5]} and his Juris Doctor from Harvard Law School in 1994.^[2]

I'm sure Jack Smith is formidable, top shelf; but, at some point the huff and puff must end and just results effected. That point has past!

Laurence Tribe@tribelaw “We are living through a revolt against the future. The future will prevail.” — Anand Giridharadas

If a special counsel was to be appointed, I can think of no-one better suited than Jack Smith. Vast experience prosecuting public corruption cases, treacherous national security violations, and crimes against humanity. Absorbs complex facts instantly. Perfect for Donald Trump.

in this country, just walk the streets of our major cities. In fact, you don't even need to go to the "bad areas" to see the extreme social decay that is eating away at our communities like cancer. As you will see below, there are tent cities, open drug use and rampant crime within two blocks of the White House. Even the best parts of Washington D.C. are being "fundamentally transformed", and there is no way to put a positive spin on this. From coast to coast, the number of addicts just continues to grow, the number of people sleeping on the streets just continues to grow, and crime rates are rising to frightening levels. If things are already this bad while the economy is still relatively stable, what will our major cities look like when economic conditions really start deteriorating in 2023 and beyond?"

WELCOME TO AMERICA

AMERICA'S MAGICAL THINKING Elizabeth Cronise McLaughlin

"...But it's not just that about which we are in denial. It's also about the death of American mythology. We've been lied to so long in America it's hard sometimes to know truth from fiction. I was born in 1971, and I was raised with history lessons in school that included things like Manifest Destiny (used to justify indigenous genocide, land theft, and the use of Chinese slave labor to build railroads), the "discovery" of America by Columbus (to justify violent colonialism), and the end of the enslavement of Black Americans as a distant historical event (as though the repercussions of it don't live on to this day given that slavery was the foundation of American capitalism and white supremacy). Even as recently as the past few years, many of us have fallen for the lie that this is a real democracy*. Democracy, though, requires real representation and rule by the people, under the theory that the people have the right to rule. Democracy is supposed to be in direct opposition to autocracy, where power of the few (whether monarchs or oligarchs) is lorded over the many through extreme wealth disparity, abuse of power, and control of the many to benefit those in power. I ask you: which one sounds like more like America today? As but one example, over the past few days I've seen polling that indicates that more than 88% of Americans favor background checks on gun sales, and more than 67% favor an assault weapons ban. The likelihood that any such legislation will pass, though, is literally nil absent reform of the filibuster, the end to which lies in the hands of a tiny, tiny number of people. Some of us have known for a long time that America was a lie. Some of us are just waking up to it. How do you grieve the promise of a nation that never was?..."

The rub: 'Aristotle in book 5 of his Politics distinguishes between democracy and ochlocracy, which latter essentially means rule by those incapable of ruling even themselves.'
